

Advance Publicity for “Adventures in Jordan”

The Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan is a thoroughly modern country, yet it is home to over 100,000 archaeological sites. Formerly part of the Greek, Roman and Ottoman empires, you can also find many Biblical locations and modern attractions there. We will visit the hidden city of Petra, which was once home to the mysterious Nabatean people, and explore the Wadi Rum desert sanctuary which Lawrence of Arabia chose as his base during the Arab Rising. We will also explore the culture of the friendly people of Jordan as we travel the length of their fascinating country.

Richard Jordan is a former President of the Etobicoke Historical Society and a former Toronto Star local history columnist. His feature articles on historical subjects have also appeared in the Saturday Star and the Sunday Star.

The photos below show some of our Adventures in Jordan – clockwise from top left: Richard and Maureen exploring Roman ruins in the capital of Amman, the Treasury building in Petra, a cooking lesson at the Jordanian Kitchen, a camel crossing sign at Wadi Rum and the spot on the Jordan River where Jesus was baptized. There are lots of fascinating stories and great pictures along with entertaining personal insights.
